

Introduction of SEU International Summer School Program

Theme: Cultivation of Globally Competitive Talents in the 21st Century

Overview:

This project provides courses jointly offered by Chinese and Japanese universities with the purpose of co-cultivating globally competitive talents. The project, taking the form of international joint teaching, offers lectures, discussions, cultural instructions and other activities; the topics of which include:

Course 1- Japanese Modern History and Chinese Culture

Course 2- Communication in the Context of International Education

Course 3- "Memory of Jiangsu's Cities" Found in Japanese Classics

On the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the normalization of Sino Japanese diplomatic relations, this summer school course, taking Sino-Japanese communication and cultural exchanges as the starting point and giving consideration to international frontier academics, offers in-depth online courses and introduces the new model of mixed teaching to help students sense the social and cultural differences between China and Japan, promote cross-cultural understanding, train cross-cultural communication skills from the perspective of internationalization, and enhance the exchange of Chinese and Japanese young students.
